Indian River County Young Democrats to Hold Support Rally for Planned Parenthood

Youth Voice Publicly Their Thanks for Educational Services Provided

Vero Beach, FL - Thursday, June 14th, 2007: On Friday, June 15th, the Indian River County Young Democrats are holding a support rally for the local Planned Parenthood office. The rally will be held from 3 PM to 5 PM on 20th Street (SR60) near 31st Street in Vero Beach.

The local Young Democrats plan to express their support for the outstanding services provided by the local Planned Parenthood Health Clinic. The Indian River County Health Center of Planned Parenthood has provided high-quality sexual and reproductive health care, including family planning, gynecological care, STI/STD testing and treatment, and pregnancy testing in Indian River County for more than a decade. These services, including educational services for all citizens, is a vital part of public health care to provide to the residents of Indian River County.

“Planned Parenthood has often been misunderstood regarding the breadth of services and education that they provide,” stated Amber Manera, President of the Indian River County Young Democrats. “Educating fellow residents of the county about the needs this community has for such an organization is important for all of us living in this beautiful corner of Florida.”

The local Young Democrats plan to express their support solely through sign waving for passing motorists to see, providing positive visibility for the vital health services provided by the local Planned Parenthood clinic. Through peaceful, though highly visible, efforts, the local Young Democrats hope to raise awareness to the need Indian River County residents have for such an organization and the services they provide.
